GLADSTONE ILL!

The Great English Statesman Confined to His Bed

As a Result of a Chill Taken While Walking Home From Heated Club Rooms.

LONDON, March 7.—Mr. Gladstone is seriously ill, as the result of a chill. According to the statements made in connection with the sickness of the ex-premier, the latter walked home from the "Brooks" club, No. 60 St. James street, yesterday evening, after dining there with his late secretaries, through St. James Park, though the night was a chilly one for even a young and robust man to venture out into after dining at a heated club.

As a result he contracted a chill and, upon reaching his home, had to be barried oil to bed. In spite of Mr. Gladstone's desire that a physician should not be summoned, claiming that his indisposition was only a slight matter, a doctor was summoned after Mr. Gladstone had gone under treatment.

This morning his condition was such that another physician was summoned to attend him and this afternoon one of the physicians in attendance upon the distinguished patient gave a statement to the newspapers which indicates that Mr. Gladstone's illness is undoubtedly serious. The physician said, however, that the absence of a high fever indicated that there was no great danger at present.

Mr. Gladstone is suffering considerably from hoarseness and is kept in bed in spite of his remonstrances. He insists that he is only suffering from a temporary indisposition, and that he will be all right in a day or so. His physicians do not take this view of the case, and while they say that the great English statesman is in no danger at present, they will not allow him to leave his bed until a considerable improvement has taken place in his condition.

Naturally the report of Mr. Gladstone's illness has spread with remarkable rapidity and from many quarters inquiries are already coming in, asking for particulars concerning the distinguished sufferer's health and expressing the hope that he will soon be on the high road to recovery.

HOLDS THE ESTATE FOR TAXES.

Indiana Supreme Court Makes a Ruling as to Nonexistent Property.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 7.—The supreme court rendered a decision in the famous tax case from Carroll county, in which it was sought to tax the estate of Nathaniel Brown, who had prepared his property, which, upon his death, proved to aggregate about $1,000,000 in value. The estate was thus taxed for the years from 1881 to 1889 inclusive in amounts ranging from $101 500 to $252,000, the auditor claiming that the amount of property had been acquainted and from his action in putting the property on the tax duplicate an appeal was taken. The supreme court holds for the auditor all along the line. The law invests him with the powers of assessor. From the nature of the case he could give only a general description of the property omitted from taxation. Where title is sought through a tax sale the statute is strictly constructed in favor of the owner, but not where the owner is attempting to avoid the payment of his just taxes. "If these taxes were unpaid," the court holds, "they belong to the state. They are the state's property and the right of the state to them never ceases. The statute of 1891 has not repealed the law authorizing the assessment of omitted property. The legislature, in enacting the tax law, had no intention of giving delinquent taxpayers any such advantage over the honest people of the state."

TOOK POISON.

Dr. Leek and His Sweetheart Seek Death in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Dr. J. J. Leek, a well-known dentist, and Miss Alice Aldersaly, of Napa, have been lying at the City hospital, at the point of death, the result of asphyxiation and probable poisoning. Yesterday the pair were found in Leek's room, the gas turned on, and both black in the face from asphyxiation. Physicians were summoned, who at once pronounced them suffering from narcotic poison. Miss Aldersaly died today. Dr. Leek is still in a precarious condition. There is much mystery surrounding the case. There is little doubt, however, that poison was taken by both with suicidal intent. Dr. Leek is known to have been despondent of late, having met with the loss of considerable money.

CHEWED HIS FINGERS.

The Way a Farmer Beats Watch a Hideous Maniac.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., March 7.—While William Brunal, of New Hanover township, was driving home last night he was attacked by a highwayman two miles north of Pottstown. Mr. Brunal refused to hand over his money and a terrible struggle followed, the robber using a heavy sand bag. The fight was a long one and the robber gave it up after the farmer had bitten a big piece out of one of his cheeks and chewed one of his fingers nearly off.

A Pacific Cable.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., March 7.—The delegates who have been attending the conference called to discuss the intercolonial postal and telegraph service, have passed a resolution in favor of a Pacific cable to America, the route to be via Samoa, Fanning Island and Honolulu to Vancouver. It is said that this route is likely to be supported by the governments of the United States, of Germany, France, Great Britain and Canada.

HE ASKS MERCY.

Joseph Donjan, the Crank, Writes to the President.

He Pleads for Liberty and Says He Will Never Write Another Threatening Letter.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 7.—Joseph Dojan, who was sentenced to eighteen months in the Maryland penitentiary for sending a threatening postal card to Vice President Stevenson, has written to President Cleveland asking for a pardon as follows:

"Begging pardon for addressing you so, but I feel as only one who is innocent can feel. The old question over again: 'Why, if John Sherman is honest, did he not appear against me, or why was I not tried before the senate?' Now, for justice's sake, read over letters written by me to the different senators, also to yourself, and say if I was not willing to prove with legal evidence anything that looked like a charge. I say now, cursed be the hour when I enlisted myself in such service. I say, cursed be my own brains for having thought themselves more intelligent than the thoughtful population of the United States, and I say, dastil do I care how many Crokers, Shermans, etc., move this country, when intelligence is a worse crime than stealing a million. Will I also find that an obliging president will let me off when I humble and degrade myself so far that I am willing to swear I shall never try to serve this God forsaken and sacred society blessed country of liberty. I'll promise never to write a newspaper article, or will I otherwise bring myself in the forground unless it is to serve my own interest without disturbing other people. Liberty is health to me. Confinement will prove my destroyer. I ask mercy."

NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

A New Order Regulating Pension Matters.

The Bland Seigniorage Bill Taken Up by the Senate—Other Proceedings of the Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Hereafter all notices of reduction of pensions will be sent to pensioners by registered letters. A rule has been adopted by Commissioner Lochren and necessary arrangements have been made with the post office department. The first batch of these will be sent out this morning. No notices have been sent out during the past three days, pending the completion of arrangements with the post office department. The examination will be dispensed of by Thursday evening. The number mailed today and Thursday will probably aggregate 800, but after that daily arrangements for between 125 and 200. It was stated at the bureau yesterday that a margin of nine or ten days, in addition to the required thirty days from the time of the receipt of notice in which additional evidence could be filed, would undoubtedly be allowed. Further time will be given if asked for by the pensioner.

Much feeling has been aroused in religious circles and among free-thinkers as well, over the resolution of Representative Morse, of Massachusetts, to secure recognition of the deity in the constitution. While petitions in favor of the measure have been received from many religious bodies, other petitions equally strong in their terms have been presented against the proposition by organized bodies of freethinkers, having heard the statements of the church people, the committee is confronted with the question whether it shall afford a hearing to the antagonists of the resolution. Requests for an audience have been made by the free thought societies of New York, Chicago and Washington. There is an apprehension on the one hand that these people may present their views in a manner which would lay them open to the charge of sacrilege from the churches and bring down criticism upon the committee for listening to speeches to offending on the Christian religion, and on the other hand that a refusal to listen to both sides of the case would involve a charge of prejudice and illiberality. The question whether the free-thinkers will be accorded a hearing will probably be decided by the committee at its next meeting.

Senator Voorhees says in the course of a speech, that he hopes and believes the tariff bill will be reported to the full committee in a few hours. He says it will remain in the committee at least a week.

The senate at 2:15 entered upon the consideration of the seigniorage bill without opposition.

Members of the finance committee who are working upon the tariff bill say that they do not believe it is possible to report the bill to the full committee this afternoon, notwithstanding the statement of Senator Voorhees and they are under the impression that the chairman of the committee meant to-morrow morning. It is now supposed the bill may be ready by 10 o'clock tomorrow.

Trains Collide.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 7.—The St. Louis express, going west on the West Shore road, ran into a freight train a short distance west of Syracuse, at 3 o'clock this morning. Both trains were badly damaged, but no passengers were seriously hurt.

SCHOOL FUNDS.

Indiana Supreme Court Defines the Duties of School Trustees.

Surplus School Funds Must Be Turned Back into the Treasury—McCabe Holds the Law Constitutional.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 7.—The supreme court yesterday held the law constitutional which requires township trustees and other school officers to return to the treasury for redistribution all unexpended school funds in their hands at the close of the school year. The suit was brought by the attorney general on relation of the state and the decision will come about $500,000 to be turned into the treasuries of the several counties of the state.

In the course of the opinion the court declares that courts do not bend the constitution when they give it the effect which the people intended it should have. The equal distribution of the state school revenue to the school corporations, according to the number of school children, is a means and not an end. Should a densely populated township have an unexpended balance of the amount distributed to it by the close of the school year, the statutory requirement that it be returned for redistribution is in strict conformity to the requirement of the constitution that the schools shall be equally open to all.

It is believed that scarcely anything could be more unfavorable to the faithful administration of the common school system than to allow these unexpended balances to accumulate in the hands of township trustees, a constant temptation to dereliction, if not fraud. So long as these balances are thus suffered to remain in the hands of township trustees the school children are wholly deprived of the use of them. The act will also prevent the returning of false enumeration that the revenue may be increased.

Fort Wayne had a large amount but claims to have spent it—about $100,000 in all. A question of fees is indirectly involved. The state superintendent tried to get the trustees to pay this money over voluntarily. They declined. This suit was then brought.

A HOOSIER TRAGEDY.

William Bowman Murdered Near Jeffersonville.

His Dead Body Found on the Highway —His Money and Valuables Missing.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., March 7.—William Bowman was murdered by highwaymen last night near St. Joseph's Hill, fifteen miles away. Particulars are meagre, but it is thought that Bowman was robbed and afterwards shot. Bowman was in the city yesterday and assisted to ferret out the counterfeiting ring that was known to have considerable money on his person. Bowman left for St. Joseph's Hill on business in his buggy, via New Albany, and it was between these places that his body was found on the road, with a wound in the abdomen and his pockets rifled. There is no clew.

SPECULATION INSURANCE.

Policy Holder Wants an Indiana Company Enjoined From Paying Claims.

GARNER, Ind., March 7.—A suit which will go far toward testing the validity of the so-called speculation life insurance was brought today by W. J. Davis, a policy holder in the ex-soldiers' life insurance company, of this city. The suit is to enjoin the company from paying Edwin G. Hitchie $2,000 on a policy taken out by him on the life of his father, who died a few days ago. The policy was taken out without the knowledge or consent of the party insured. The company stands ready and willing to pay the entire amount if not prevented by the court. Mr. Davis, as a policy holder, is interested in the assets and dividends of the company and for that reason brings the suit.

WRECK ON THE PENNSYLVANIA.

Train Derailed, Sleeping Car Smashed and Several Employes Injured.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 7.—The Pennsylvania railroad special, No. 29, which arrived at Columbus at 8:10 p. m. and left at 8:30, met with an accident at Reed avenue crossing, about two miles east of the city, at 8:30 last night, by which the following railroad employes, all of this city, were seriously injured: C. C. H. Bell, brakeman; Bert Cooper, telegraph operator; James Jenkins, John McCormick, fireman; M. J. Wilson, car inspector; Bert Woodward, yardmaster.

TAKEN FROM THE FACTORY.

Four Hundred Children at Muncie Will Be Placed in School.

MUNCIE, Ind., March 7.—Four hundred children will be taken from the Muncie glass factories and placed in school. The Muncie Humane society ordered employers to discharge all boys and girls under the age of 14 years. This will greatly increase the expense of operating the factories.

Seizes His Story.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 7.—Frank De Haa Robinson, president of the Cleveland base ball club, denies the story sent out from New York that he had consented to the transfer of McKean to the New York club.

Treats Collide.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 7.—The St. Louis express, going west on the West Shore road, ran into a freight train a short distance west of Syracuse, at 3 o'clock this morning. Both trains were badly damaged, but no passengers were seriously hurt.

Herbert Gladstone.

LONDON, March 7.—Mr. Herbert Gladstone, parliamentary secretary of the home office, has accepted the position of first commissioner of public works, made vacant by the fact that the Rt. Hon. George Shaw-Lefevre has been appointed president of the local government board. Mr. Herbert Gladstone, however, will not have a seat in the cabinet, although his predecessor was a cabinet minister.

LONDON'S POLICE

Given a Great Scare by a Practical Joker.

By the Finding of a Tin Box Which They Supposed to Contain Dynamite, but Which Was Only Gunpowder.

LONDON, March 7.—The police in London and of the "E" division in particular, are suffering from another dynamite scare, but their precious experiences in this line have led people to look with suspicion upon any explosive missiles unearthed by the blue coats of London.

According to the story told by Superintendent Richard W. Steggles, of the police division referred to, a tin box supposed to contain dynamite or some other high explosive, was found last night, upon one of the window sills of the historical Bow street police station, almost fronting the more famous Bow street police court. The box is described as being two inches deep, one inch broad, and contained a round hole from which protruded a burnt fuse.

The policemen who discovered the box immediately gave the alarm. The inspectors and superintendent were called and the box was taken to the cutcrosity of the yard of the police station where it was watered for a long time before anybody cared to subject it to a closer examination.

The discovery of the alleged bomb was signalled to Scotland Yard and from there the news spread that an attempt had been made to blow up the Bow street police station by means of a dynamite bomb. In fact the startling intelligence was soon magnified to a report that the police station had actually been the scene of a dynamite explosion.

When the superintendent of police, assisted by several inspectors and sergeants, at last found courage to open the box, they found within it a cartridge, supposed to be loaded with some high explosive, though it should be added, that sceptics insist that the cartridge only contained ordinary gun powder. In any case, the tin box was found to be blackened with the smoke and fire from the burned fuse and there is still some doubt as to whether an attempt of very small nature was made to cause an explosion at the Bow street police station.

The police are emphatic in the allegation that the cartridge contained dynamite and that it was intended by those who placed it where it was found to destroy the Bow street station. It will, however, take considerable strong evidence to convince the general public that the policemen of Bow street have not been the victims of a practical joke.

KILLED AND ROBBED.

A Lima Man Attacked by Highwaymen.

LIMA, Ohio, March 7.—The dead body of Joseph M. Archer, a fish stock dealer, has been found in the road about a mile from his home, near North Baltimore, with a bullet hole in the back of the head. He had been shot by robbers, who took from him $3,000. Archer was on his way home from a trip to Buffalo, where he had sold a large lot of hogs. He had left the railroad and was walking along the highway, when he was shot and instantly killed and his body robbed of the money.

FALLING WALLS

Crash in the Roof of a Building at Painesville.

PAINESVILLE, R. I., March 7.—The north wall of the Spencer block, on Main street square, fell at 6:20 this morning, crushing in the roof of Edward Smith's wholesale liquor store adjoining. The Evening Post, published in the Spencer block, is a heavy loser by the accident. The building was erected in 1874.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

A Farmer Struck by a Fast Train at Huntingville.

HUNTINGVILLE, Ind., March 7.—The fast train on the Cincinnati division of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway, struck and instantly killed Charles Glazer, a prominent farmer near Manchester, this morning. Whether it was an accident or suicide is not known.

LOUIS KOSSUTH.

The Hungarian Patriot, is Regaining Strength.

TURIN, March 7.—Louis Kossuth, whose condition of health has recently caused some anxiety to his friends, passed a restless night. This morning, however, the distinguished patient is calmer and his attendants say that he is regaining strength.

MORPHINE PELLETS

Cause the Death of a Child at Shelbyville, Ind.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 7.—The two-year-old child of Dr. J. W. Booker got into his prescription case last evening and took a large dose of morphine pellets. It died two hours later.

A BAD WOMAN.

She Deserts Her Husband and Lives With Another Man.

Repents and is Forgiven, Only to Fall Again—Arrested and Bound Over to the Grand Jury.

BOSTON, Mass., March 7.—Mrs. Harriet F. Belcher, the wife of a wealthy Brockton shoe manufacturer, and Edmund A. Stiles, a printer, who has a wife and several children, were arrested at 47 Mertle street, where they had been living as man and wife, and in the municipal court were held for the grand jury.

The arrest adds another epoch to Mrs. Belcher's phenomenal career. She is a very handsome woman, about twenty-one years of age, and married when but fifteen to Mr. Belcher. Her married life was unhappy and she ran away to this city. She returned and was taken back. A year later she again ran away. She came to Boston and the life she led here resulted in the breaking up of three prominent families in Newton and Allston.

Soon after she eloped with Herdwalter David Roberts, of the Hoffman house, New York, and spent $1,000, which she obtained from her mother. Roberts deserted her in Philadelphia and she came back here. Stiles met her a short time ago, became infatuated with her and as a result of numerous quarrels, his wife left him and went to her home at Binghampton, N. Y. Since then Stiles has been living with the Belcher woman. Mrs. Belcher's husband and relatives of Mrs. Stiles caused their arrest.

STREET CAR STRIKE.

Affairs at Youngstown Growing More Serious.

Many Deputy Sheriffs Sworn In and the Militia May be Called—A Proposition to Arbitrate.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 7.—The Electric Street Car company made no effort to run their cars last night nor this morning. Sixty men have been sworn in as deputy sheriffs, and another attempt will soon be made to run cars. Manager Anderson, of the Street Car company, says he will run the cars if the militia has to be called out to protect the non-union men. W. D. Malone, president of the Ohio Street Railroad union, is here trying to effect a settlement by arbitration, either through a local or state board. He is willing that the strikers shall return to work with the engineers wages cut 25 cents per day until the arbitration committee decide one way or another.

COMING YACHT RACE.

Yankee Doodle Will Run Against Minerva.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—McBride Bros., of this city, the owners of the steam yacht Yankee Doodle, announced today that they would accept the challenge of the Kingdom company, owners of the Irish steam launch Hibernia, to match the Yankee Doodle or any other boat in the United States for $1,000 a side. William McBride said today that they were ready at any moment to post a forfeit and open negotiations for the race. According to the dispatches, the Hibernia is reported to be the fastest boat on the other side of the Atlantic and has a cylinder of seven and one-fourth inches, with eight stroke. The Yankee Doodle has triple expansion engines, with seven and one-half, eleven and one-fourth and eleven inch cylinders, with a nine-inch stroke, and going at full speed, is expected to develop twenty-five horse power.

REORGANIZING.

The Pittsburg, Akron and Western Railroad at It.

AKRON, Ohio, March 7.—Within a few days arrangements will be completed by which the Pittsburg, Akron and Western railroad company will be placed in a position to pay all liens now standing against it. The receiver proposes to issue certificates aggregating $400,000. It is understood that a deal is already completed whereby the receiver of the company will be able to float the certificates. The liens amount to about $300,000. This will leave $100,000 to care for other indebtedness. The plan outlined also provides that the receiver will be given permission to operate the road for a few years. A journal entry in common pleas court has been agreed upon substantially which embodies these provisions. The big mortgage of several million dollars against the road will not be foreclosed.

EMBEZZLER ARRESTED.

He is Charged With Misappropriating $2,200.

BOSTON, March 7.—W. Percy Thatcher, teller of the Brooklyn National bank, is under arrest, charged with embezzlement from the institution of $3,200. He was arrested Monday night and not until he appeared in court was the fact revealed. The case was continued for a hearing today. Thatcher was in the employ of the Maverick bank until that institution collapsed.

FOR THE MUSEUM.

Wax Figures Will Represent the Borden Fiend Murder.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 7.—Representatives of a New York museum visited Franklin Park yesterday to secure the bedroom effects in the home of Moore Baker, whose wife and child were murdered by Willard Thompson and Henry Baker, alias "Pierson," who were in turn killed by the frenzied husband Mr. Baker, without any show of feeling, took down the bed and crib, rolled up the bed clothes and his wife's night dress and turned over all the articles, together with the axe and shotgun, to the museum representatives. He was paid a round sum for the effects. Baker had intended burning the things, but was prevailed on not to do so. The scene of the tragedy will be represented with figures in wax.

TOO MANY WIVES.

The Husband of Myrtle Shields to be Arrested for Bigamy.

Two of Her Brothers From Payne, Ohio, in the City—Verdict in the Swayne-Corey Case.

A few days ago The Sentinel told of the somewhat romantic marriage, as a result of anonymous correspondence, brought about by newspaper correspondence, of Miss Myrtle Shields, of this city, and a Mr. Williard, of Chicago, who afterwards proved to be E. E. Grout. Last evening two of the brothers of Miss Shields, from Payne, Ohio, were in the city and they assert that Grout has a wife and child living at Chicago and therefore, by his marriage with their sister, is guilty of bigamy. They were in consultation with Prosecuting Attorney Gerrick and will probably have Grout arrested. They will return to the city tomorrow, when requisition papers will probably be taken out for the arrest of Grout and the bringing of him to this city for trial. The bride, it is said, is heiress to quite an estate, and it is the desire of her Ohio brothers to save her from the wiles of an adventurer. Miss Shields has an older sister who is a member of the salvation army.

The jury in the case of Corey against Swayne retired about 11 a. m. yesterday and returned at 4 p. m. with a verdict of $250 for the plaintiff. The case has been on trial for several days and the original sum sued for was $5,000.

William Schmidt and Sophia Wimmer, Frank Emkermingbuyten and Dora Phillabaum, William Houser and Mabel Ludwick have been licensed to wed.

CAPTAIN LYNE DEAD.

He Was Widely Known all Over Allen County.

A Veteran of the War and a Prominent Mason—Other Deaths and Funerals.

At his home, No. 111 West Jefferson street, last night, at 10o'clock, occurred the death from consumption of Capt. William Lyne, an old and widely known resident of this city. The deceased was born in London, England, in 1820. At the age of sixteen years he came with his parents to this country and settled in Detroit. He soon moved to Bellevue, Ohio, and it was from this place that he enlisted in the union army. He was transferred and became captain of company K, in the Fifty-ninth New York, where he served during the entire war, participating among other fierce battles in those of Fredericksburg and Antietam. In 1871 he moved to Fort Wayne and has since made this place his home. Captain Lyne was formerly secretary of the Allen County Fair association and as such is well known to all the farmers. He was a member of Sol D. Bayless lodge, F. and A. M., and was one of the chief movers in the enterprise of building the Masonic Temple. The deceased leaves a wife and one son, I. M. Lyne, of Lane Walnut, Kas. Misses J. S. and W. J. Markey, of this city, are his step sons.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock from the residence and the remains will later be shipped to Bellevue, Ohio, for interment.

RICE.

Mrs. Carrie Rice, aged twenty-two years, died at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, of lung fever, at her home, 70 East Pontiac street. She was the wife of C. E. Rice, and was born in Fort Wayne. The bereaved husband is a blacksmith in the Pennsylvania shops and is well liked by his fellow employes. She is left with a baby one week old and another child aged one.

MISSIONARY EXTENSION.

Important Meeting Tonight at Third Presbyterian Church.

Mr. S. L. Marshon, a prominent business man of Chicago, arrived in the city this afternoon and will deliver a missionary lecture, being the first address of the Missionary Extension course, at the Third Presbyterian church this evening, before the Christian Endeavorers and Epworth Leagues of Fort Wayne. Mr. Marshon is well known as one of the most prominent missionary talkers in this country and his lecture will be an interesting one and the house should be crowded. This afternoon, at 3 o'clock, a missionary conference was held at the church.

The Missionary Extension Course is booked for twenty one cities in the state of Indiana with nineteen other cities in this state applying for the course. Indiana is in the lead. The district secretary in the south sits as in a letter to Mr. Marshon, "that the south is coming with one hundred cities and towns for the Missionary Extension Course."

The Cigarmakers' union, headed by the City band, turned out this afternoon to attend the funeral of the late Charles McClure.

Oh! What a picnic! Did you see the people get bargains in shoes at Thieg & Co's Fire Sale, 25 West Main street.

CHRISTIAN BOSEKER.

What He Would Do if Elected Mayor of the City.

He Replies to the Questions Propounded by the Sentinel to the Other Mayoralty Candidates.

LA FAYETTE, Ind., March 6, '94.

Editor Sentinel:

I was informed by you that you wished to interview me as a candidate for mayor, but I did not have time while at home to give the matter attention.

I assume that you will submit to me the questions submitted to the other candidates which, as I find them in The Sentinel of the 28th of February, are as follows:

1st. "Are you in favor of the new charter."

2nd. "If you were elected mayor how would you be governed in selecting the appointees under you, for the positions on the various city boards and the other offices for which the charter says the mayor shall make the appointments?"

3d. "Will you enforce the law prohibiting the selling of liquors to minors?"

4th. "Will you enforce the 11 o'clock saloon law?"

5th. "Will you enforce the Sunday saloon law?"

6th. "If elected, will you give orders to the police to destroy gambling paraphernalia when gambling dens are raided?"

To the first question, will say that I am not satisfied with all of the provisions of the new charter, but now that it is the law I am in favor of an honest trial of it until the next session of the legislature, and if by that time do'ects shall become more apparent I shall favor such amendments as may be necessary, and if by that time it shall be found to be suited for the best interests of the city I shall favor its repeal and the reenforcement of the old charter or a new one suited to our wants.

To the second question I answer that, if elected, I will endeavor to appoint good and honest men to all places. I would not appoint an unfit man or drunkard man, whether active in politics or not, and I should not condemn a good man simply because he may be zealous in the support of democratic measures and men.

For answer to the third, fourth, fifth and sixth questions and adopting in substance the language of one of the other candidates, I would enforce the laws and ordinances mentioned in the above questions, and all other laws and ordinances, "to that standard that no reasonable citizen could have cause to complain of my faithfulness to the trust imposed upon me."

At the same time I should see to it that the laws and ordinances should not be used simply as instruments of oppression without regard to the public good.

A rumor has been circulated by certain politicians, that, if elected, that a certain gentleman would occupy one of the most important positions. I never offered him one and he never approached me on this subject. There is no truth, whatever, in the rumor. I have made no promises.

Respectfully submitted,

CHRISTIAN BOSEKER.

TWO TOUGH CHARACTERS

Edward Kelley and Thomas King Bound Over.

They Are Accused of Attempting to Rob a Delivery in Front of the Friends Enterprise—Gamblers.

This morning, at police court, Edward Kelley and Thomas King were up for attempting to rob a dummy in front of the Friends' Enterprise clothing store last evening. Kelley was a big, tough bum, who talked like a prize fighter and looked like one. Last week the Friends' Enterprise store lost a fine mackinaw, which was stolen from the front of their establishment. The proprietors have been keeping a careful watch on their dummies and last night caught a suspicious looking fellow hanging about in front of their place of business. The fellow was drunk and attempted to take an overcoat off one of the frames. The coat was fastened with a chain and back and he could be thief was fooled. A policeman was sent for and Kelley was arrested a short distance further down the street. Before Mayor Schoeer this morning Kelley plead not guilty. He said he was a moulder and that his home was in Pittsburg. He protested loudly against being charged with stealing, but was bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $200.

A young vagrant named Thomas King was also up upon the charge of being a pal of Kelleys. He was arrested at the station house upon suspicion and was known by the Friends as being one of the men seen loitering about their store. King plead not guilty but was also bound over in the sum of $200. Both men went to jail.

GAMBLERS RATHER.

Last night in accordance with instructions from Mayor Scheer, Chief of Police Williams issued an order to all the gambling houses in the city. The gamblers had read THE SENTINEL, however, and were not to be caught so smoothly. The police went to the various dens but the color of a card was not seen and the rooms were empty.

His honor was this morning asked if he intended to keep up the good work so nobly begun last night.

"Yes," said Mayor Scheer, "I have instructed Chief Wilkinson to give the gamblers no rest and they will hereafter be compelled to keep closed. The streets have not raided the gamblers before this winter was because I did not think they were doing enough business to harm anyone."

The Christian Endeavorers of this denomination extend a cordial invitation to the natural inclinations of humanity and from Christ himself it was the most natural attribute of the human heart to make confessions. The little child when it had done wrong went to its parent and confessed to having done some wrong. "And what parent," asked Father Boseke, "when his little one has opened its tender heart and made a confession of its fault will not freely forget and forgive. The early apostles and saints confessed their sins to one another. In the old law confession and sacrifices were a most important feature of Christian worship. Thus on down from the days of Christ confession has been the aid and consolation of millions of Christian men and women. "Examples of the church have attacked the confessional, but do we go to our enemies for truth about ourselves?" asked Father Boseke. What a fearful load to carry is the burden of sin and how sweet the consolation to the heart that can confide in a loving friend and pastor and receive sympathy, advice and expiation. Nearly all Protestant denominations practice confession in one form or another. Why? Because self accusation is the most natural thing in the human heart.

Father Boseke went on to prove from many sources that the confessional was indespensible to the true faith and paid a loving tribute to the thousands and millions of pious confessors who had sacrificed their lives for the confession and conversion of sinners. He also paid a glowing tribute to Father Damien, who gave up his life for the outcast lepers of the plague stricken island of Molokai.

THRONGED NIGHTLY.

The Mission at the Cathedral is Great Success.

Father Boseke, S. J., Delivered a Powerful and Eloquent Sermon Upon the Confessional Last Evening.

The Cathedral was packed to overflowing last night. Every seat in the church was taken and chairs had been arranged in the center aisle. These were all occupied and hundreds of persons stood up in the rear near the doors. The mission which has been in progress for the past week has been one of the most successful ever held in this city. Last night the Rev. Father Boseke lectured upon the subject of the confessional. He chose his text from a passage in Proverbs, 28th chapter. In opening his address, Father Boseke complimented the Catholics of Fort Wayne for the earnest manner in which they had attended the mission at the Cathedral and predicted that great good would result. He began by saying that the confessional was as old as the church itself and was one of the most important features of Catholicity. It dated its foundation as a divine institution to the natural inclinations of humanity and from Christ himself it was the most natural attribute of the human heart to make confessions. The little child when it had done wrong went to its parent and confessed to having done some wrong. "And what parent," asked Father Boseke, "when his little one has opened its tender heart and made a confession of its fault will not freely forget and forgive. The early apostles and saints confessed their sins to one another. In the old law confession and sacrifices were a most important feature of Christian worship. Thus on down from the days of Christ confession has been the aid and consolation of millions of Christian men and women. "Examples of the church have attacked the confessional, but do we go to our enemies for truth about ourselves?" asked Father Boseke. What a fearful load to carry is the burden of sin and how sweet the consolation to the heart that can confide in a loving friend and pastor and receive sympathy, advice and expiation. LORD ROSEBERY, the successor of Gladstone, is reported to have said not long ago that "office is an acquired taste," and that "men learn to love it as they do alcoholic or opium, or cod liver oil." Lord Rosebery is mistaken. The love of office is a "natural taste" it is born and bred in many men, and here in America, at least, it is the one absorbing ambition of thousands of men.

IF ONE should step to the door of the United States senate and exclaim, "Hello, governor! Senator Colquitt, Gordon, Harris, Dale, Hawley, Vance, Cake, Perkins, Shoup, Proctor and Hill would be up at it look around. "Hello, general!" would attract the attention of half the reconstructed and "Hello, colonel!" "Hello, judge!" or "Hello squire!" would bring pretty near all the rest of them.

THE MOST souvenir of representative men, public buildings and typical residences of Fort Wayne, issued by the Gazette, of this city, is a handsome and valuable publication. It contains over one hundred photogravures, presenting splendid likenesses of well known citizens, all of the more important public offices, and quite a number of the finest residences in the city. The edition is a credit to its publishers and is a souvenir which those who have it will preserve.

JUDGE GROSSCUP, in a decision in a libel suit at Chicago, holds that it is a libelous to call a man a "bad egg." "The plaintiff," said he, "alleges specific damages, and I think the contention of the defendants is correct that the language is not libelous. To compare a man to a bad egg might have reference simply to his personal habits as regards cleanliness. It would certainly not be actionable to say that a man smells bad. There must be something tangible, something which the mind can grasp."

IT IS said that "Old Hutch," the whilom Chicago lord of trade operator whose doings on and off 'change were for years prime subjects for newspaper comment, is about to open a saloon in Chicago. Benjamin Peters Hutchinson, lost had a career full of joyous duration, the Philadelphia gamblers have a Mecca at Gloucester, an equally unsavory locality; Pittsburg "sports" cross a bridge, go up an inclined plane railway and trudge through muddy roads to lose their money in the dens of Duquesne Heights, and at Omaha the gambling fraternity strives out of the city, have established their headquarters on an almost inaccessible swallow in the Missouri river. All these places thrive, their owners become rich. Men patronize them in spite of every discomfort. The fever is in the blood and must, it seems, run its course. A vigorous enforcement of the law will, however, lessen its evils in cities like Fort Wayne and save our young men from contracting the ruinous habit and at the same time result in checking it in others.

Fate of a Political Boss.

The trial and sentencing to six years in Sing Sing penitentiary of John Y. McKane shows that it is still possible in this republic to punish men who try to corrupt the ballot and defeat honest elections. This one trial and sentence will make it easier to have pure elections in all the rest of the country—easier to arrest and convict other ballot corruptors. The will of the honest people of this country ever comes uppermost at last. It was Lincoln who said that you cannot fool all the people all the time.

McKane was the political boss of Gravesend, a suburban township of Brooklyn that includes Coney Island, the seaside resort. He was known as the boss of Coney Island. At the last election just full 6,000 votes were cast in a population of 8,000. This illustrates the methods of the boss. He was influential and very rich. Besides being a political boss, he was a Sunday school superintendent. He let nothing go for.

The election inspectors of both parties were under his thumb. He bought, cajoled and threatened. Early on election day it was seen by some of his political opponents that the election inspectors their party had placed at the polls were not doing their duty. Tickets were said to be written out boldly and thrust into the ballot box with no voter attached. The opposing party appointed other inspectors who could be trusted. The boss would not let them use the registry lists in the six Gravesend voting districts. Then they got out an injunction from a Brooklyn judge restraining him from meddling with the inspectors. He brushed it aside and he would defy "injunctions don't go here," he said.

But the man who had frequently boasted, "I fear no law living," had gone one step too far at last. The wrongdoer always does go just a little too far at last. The boss' own party repudiated him in thousands.

He was arrested. Six indictments were found against him. One of these was for contempt of court in refusing to obey the judge's injunction. Another was for the still grosser offense of conspiracy to defeat the election laws. In one of the precincts that had in 1888 a total population of 1,063 there were registered 2,035 voters. This bold lead the boss grown. For half a dozen years almost all of the voters of Gravesend, Republican and Democratic, were cast just as the boss wanted them to be. But that was not enough. The next step was repeating and manufacturing votes.

Judge Barrett, a man belonging to the same political party, was the individual who sentenced the fallen boss. It was a dramatic scene, that sentencing. All the boss' bravado was gone. The man who feared no living thing stood, white faced and trembling, at last before the laws of his country that provide for a pure ballot and righteous elections. Judge Barrett declared that the sentence of six years in stripes in the penitentiary was justice tempered with mercy. The boss found out that injunctions go, even in Gravesend. The moral effect of this judgment will extend all over the United States and give us a better name in Europe.

Some intelligent young people who follow the proceedings of congressional legislation want to know what is meant by the seigniorage bill. Persons desiring to sell silver to the United States or to get it coined into dollars for the owners take it to the treasury department or to the mint in the form of bullion, which is bars of pure silver. Pure silver is too soft to wear in dollars. The standard American silver dollar contains altogether 412½ grains of metal. Of this, 371¼ grains are pure silver. The rest, or nine-tenths of the whole weight, is alloy, chiefly copper. This leaves up the hands of the government in paying for the one-tenth parcel silver that it took from the weight of every dollar to add the necessary alloy. The government keeps this for its own to defray the expenses of the coinage. It is called the government's seigniorage. There is now in the treasury waste some $50,000,000 worth of seigniorage that has been left over from the coinage of the many silver dollars since the resumption of silver coinage in 1878. This is what Mr. Bland wants made into dollars and put into circulation.

Germany and Russia carried on a commercial war for months. Neither would take the lead toward practicing or advocating a reciprocity commercial doctrine. Suddenly France imposed a considerable import duty on wheat. This of course would hurt Russia where exporting France. Immediately Russia found out that she did not love France so much as she did last summer, and soon afterward the reciprocity treaty between Germany and Russia was signed, and now we are assured that there will be no war in Europe. State reasons are pocket reasons, just as with private individuals.

If you are ever going to buy any diamonds, the next year or two will be the time to do it. They promise to be lower than they ever were before. Small stones can be bought in London for almost one-half less than they could be a year ago.

The Indians who have leased lands in their reservation to cattlemen have a dead attack on getting their pay. The red man simply eats the wire fence, slaughters the fat-bossed white man's beeves and eats them.

The southerners say that everything is coming their way, even woman's rights conventions.

TWO MILAN BEAUTIES

FAIREST FLOWERS IN A CITY OF HANDSOME WOMEN.

Interesting Young Scions of an Ancient Race—The Durini and Casati Families—Rich, Beautiful and Good—Letter from Italy's Most Beautiful City.

[Special correspondence.]

MILAN, Feb. 12.—Two of the fairest of the fair beauties of aristocratic Milan are Donna Carla, Contessina di Durini, and Contessina Maria Casati. Therefore young scions of an ancient race can trace their ancestry back to the middle ages, and many places in and about Milan are inseparably associated with the names of their forefathers, who in the annals of the fourteenth century are described as hereditary proprietors of strongholds at Monza, near Milan, and Multrasio, on CONTESSINA MARIA CASATI.

Lake Como. In fact, the male relatives of Donna Carla have always borne the title of counts of Monza, and through their autumnal sojourn there have made it the Versailles of Italy.

The musical strife of King Humbert and Queen Margherita to this discerning place, and their visits there from month out of each year and are followed by many of the princely families of Rome, have revived the ancient traditions of the place and recalled the former glories of Mirabello, where Count Carlo Durini entertained with lavish magnificence and frequently numbered among his guests such personages as Archduke Ferdinand and Prince Bonaparte.

The names of the ancestors of Donna Carla have always been associated with the most illustrious defenders of the church, especially those of Cardinal Maria Durini and Cardinal Count Carlo Durini. Also for many generations one or more of the daughters of the house have entered the cloister, and it is supposed that Manzoni's famous "Signora of Monza" was a member of this family. Donna Carla's heart is often touched no doubt as she reads the story of her race, of the many deeds of heroism and self-sacrifice.

Donna Carla, being a young woman of the most loyal and patriotic character, must entertain sentiments of the greatest admiration for her father, Don Carlo Durini, leader of the powerful Ribbon family, who consecrated the greater part of his fortune to the war for Italian independence in 1859. The confession herself is well known in the highest circles of the Lombard capital and in the younger members of the Durini family. Shein distinguished in her native city not only for rare beauty, but for that intellectual culture and expert which are so rare among Italian women of the higher class. Of the most pronounced Italian type, the delicacy of her features, her splendid dark eyes and brilliant almond complexion, added to distinguished and attractive manners, have made her name one of the best known in the literary and social circles of Milan.

When Napoleon I granted the family the coat of arms which they now bear, he withdrew that of the younger branch of the Casati family, at the same time mutilating their title of count. This act awoke the indignation of the Milanese nobility, two families and proved to be a serious misfortune. At the time when they were invited to show the validity of their titles they were too poor or too indifferent to do so. Thus for many years their names remained obscure or entirely unknown until some branch, through the literary, military or financial genius of one of its members, would spring into prominence and restore the fortunes as well as recall the ancient traditions of the family.

So it has been with the Manzoni and Casati families, the former through a series of letters, the latter by means of the great financial successes of Cavalier Giovanni Casati, grandfather of the beautiful Contessina Maria. Unlike the majority of her race, this beautiful girl has blood, with violet eyes and a pale, transparent complexion. She is known in Milanese aristocratic circles not so much as a great beauty and heiress, but as a fine musician and as an amateur in the histrionic art. In her father's villa at Mobriolo, on Lake Como, she has erected a minute theater in which the famous dames of all the surrounding villas pass their summer evenings rehearsing the latest plays and operas.

CHINESE INTOLERANCE.

The Methods by Which the "Celestials" Are Influenced to Missionary Measures.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 21.—It is not easy for the Western mind to grasp the attitude of the Chinese people to the outside world. Much has been said of late years about the adoption of the European arts and sciences, the building of railways, arsenals and dockyards, the establishment of the telegraph, the erection of cotton and woolen factories, and of blast furnaces, and rolling mills, etc. These things are only scratches on the surface. They are the work of a few progressive statesmen, the chief of whom is Li Hung Chang, the viceroy of Chili, the metropolitan province. Whether or not they are at heart in sympathy with western ideas, they are alive to appropriate the advantages of western science and knowledge to build up the strength of China. But the Chinese character in its solid mass—300,000,000 people—is unchanged as savage and intolerant in its hate of the "foreign devil" as it was before the first treaty port was opened.

This hate is especially manifested in the frequent outbreaks against the missionaries, whose life in the interior is the most powerful agent in the propagation of western ideas. They are not detested merely as religious teachers, but as dangerous vehicles of that civilization which the Celestials so profoundly scorn. Though the Chinese government has just ordered the payment of large indemnities ($20,000) to the families of the two Swedish missionaries murdered last spring and the capital punishment of the criminals, Hupeh, the province where it occurred, and the adjoining province, Hunan, are now exhibiting every sign of the most malignant passion which is likely to result in still more brutal outrages. Every placards have been everywhere posted calling on the populace to arise and to sweep the foreign vermin from existence.

Chang Chi Tung, the viceroy of the two provinces, to whose skirts have clung for the last 20 years some of the most bloody memorials of Chinese hate of the foreigner and the bitter opponent of the policy of Li Hung Chang, is said to have sworn to uproot every trace of missionary teaching from his vice royalty.

Hupeh and Hunan have always been the hotbed of Chinese fanaticism. Three inferior provinces, away from the beaten board and less permeated by the influences of commerce, are governed by mandarins and literati from the highest to the lowest station whose only is death to the foreigner, especially to the missionary. The most extraordinary means are taken to feed the fury of the masses of the people. One wealthy mandarin devotes a large portion of his income to the preparation and printing of pamphlets leaded to the suicide with the most deceitful and obscene charges against the Christian religion and its teachers. This vile trash is scattered broadcast among all classes of people.

I have one of these pamphlets now before me, and I could not dare to repeat the unspeakable abominations with which it reeks. One of the beliefs propagated in these venomous books is that the missionaries obtain and murder Chinese children to obtain the eyeballs and the hearts, which are made into drugs of great value in the cure of disease, and that these specifics are sent to Europe and America, where they are sold at a great price. Another use for the eyes of Chinamen is ascribed to their value in the process of photography. A proof of this I will quote one of the least offensive of the passages in this Hupeh pamphlet:

"The reason for extracting the eyes is this: From 100 pounds of Chinese lead can be extracted 5 pounds of silver, and the remaining 95 pounds of lead can be sold at the original cost, for the only way to obtain this silver is by compounding the lead with the eyes of Chinamen. The eyes of foreigners are of no use for this purpose because they do not contain those of their own people, but only those of Chinese. The method by which this silver is obtained has never been discovered by any of the native Christians during the long period in which this religion has been propagated here."

I will venture to quote another passage as showing faintly the animus of these Chinese incendiaries:

"The words of sin is that they (the missionaries) are able to impart a magical power to water, to send abroad charms on the wings of the wind, and to take captive the spirits of living persons for the purpose of licentiousness. They also, by obtaining the hair and nail parings of women and placing them under the bed mat, acquire the power to compel their presence. They take the horoscope of children of either sex, paste it on a tree and utter incantations over it, and in this way they gain possession of their spirits to use as familiars. Many more of this art as a means of spiriting children and stealing money. This they call re-possessing themselves of their wealth."

By such charges, and others to which the foregoing are as spring water to a cesspool, the Chinese mind is being fired.

The feeling in Hupeh especially is such, if the most recent news may be trusted, as to make a series of massacres highly probable at any moment. In the meantime the stolid Pekingese government, keeping perfectly well the danger, takes no measures to prevent an outbreak. It will content itself with paying an indemnity and cutting off a few heads under the pressure of the foreign ministers after the atrocities are over.

G. L. FAUNCE.

The Half Strands.

[Special Correspondence.]

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 22.—People who visit the east coast of Florida, and especially the Indian river and the Lake Worth region, often wonder why the climate of that section is so delightful at all times of the year and so different in almost every particular from what one would expect in those latitudes. And it is doubtful if even the oldest resident there could give all the causes which produce this difference. But the explanation is simple enough.

The difference between northern and southtropical Florida, apart from the latitudinal distance, is due to the elevation of the former and the distance from it of the gulf stream. The waters of the gulf of Mexico temper the immediate coast line. Their effect does not extend far inland. The stream is present close to the east coast shore along Dade county by the Bahama banks. Atlantic steamships south bound, to avoid the force of the current, stand in so near the shore that they can at some points be hailed from the land. The gulf stream runs old story, but it is a great fact.

This vast deep blue ocean river, a thousand times the volume of the Mississippi, is 30 miles wide, 2,000 feet deep and has a velocity of five miles an hour the year round. The temperature of the stream is 84 degrees, or 9 degrees higher than the waters of the ocean through which it flows. The trade winds, blowing nine-tenths of the time, winter and summer, from the southeast, lave the stratum of warm air formed by the gulf stream westward across the land. This is why the east coast is milder and more equable than the west coast in the same latitude.

While the gulf stream are found three other equalizing agencies—the trade winds, the everglades, with a water surface preventing a hard breeze, and the zone of high barometric pressure. Here the midsummer heat (and nights otherwise 10 to 15 degrees is reduced to something like 83 degrees. The midwinter chill, which might get down to 30 degrees, is warmed up to something like 40 degrees.

A SWEET OLD LADY.

OLIVE HARPER SAW HER IN A NEW YORK STREET CAR.

She Was the Youngest Woman There, Has She Was Attired—Costumes With Wraps—Russian Blouses—Handmade and Store Pelerin Contrasted.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Going in awhile I came across a bright and frisky young girl of 20 summers, and when I do it is a pretty sight. Such a sweet child of nature leaps along the street like a cunning little fawn and trips lightly into that decorporate conveyance, a horse car, with a glance of pity toward the weary women of 30, who just begin to feel the first pains and twinges that come with advancing years. The chipper old girl takes to her seat smiling and puts up her jeweled fingernails with a daintily gloved hand and feels heartily sorry—I know she does—for all those miserable, middle aged women who have to wear "specs."

Didn't Jane Lee today, the sweet and fluttering, giddy young chit of 20? Didn't she wear a peculiar purple shirt waist, a long jacket, and round the bottom that it rattled like cardboard? Wasn't it trimmed around the top of the sprang flounce with a bead of the richest cut jet? And also were no wraps, and she! But she had a close carriage slightly pointed in front made of sealskin and having seal skin sleeves. A sort of buttoned up Eton jacket it was, and this venerable lady naturally looked as trim and pretty in it as if not 20 until you saw her face. Then was undeniably very old, but would you believe it?—it was sweet and attractive. The snow white hair was crimped and puffed and curled and decorated with a scrap of lemon of white lace and jet. But with all her years she was the youngest woman on the car. If some persons can outlive their machines, surely some others may outlive old age.

It is rather nice, though, to see a costume without a wrap. We will ere more soon, and then comes the cry all about: "Oh, I've nothing to wear!" Only a few days ago a lady will walk abroad in an 1830 skirt, with a Russian blouse coat basque, with enormous, wingless berthas and balloon puffed sleeves. Such a costume was made of such green cassel's hair, with gilt and elegant accessories in the same shade, and lush skirt and blouse had bands of white cloth. The wide berthas cape was of the cashmere, and so was the vest front, and beside that green we may see a modest peplumian blouse of indigo cloth, with the upper garment of grosgrain blue. The peplumites has a narrow pesticle sprung basque frill. The vest is plain and undraped, and all edges are bordered with the same cloth braid in simple loop pattern. The sleeves have puffs at the elbow, headed by frills and narrow cuffs.

We may see the pretty girls wear dotted swiss or cashmere Russian blouses at home, made of bright maize silk and garnished with black velvet or lace and accordion plaited in a manner to use up three times as much goods as you would think it required, and you may next see a stylish Louis X (and as many Fs and Vs as you care to add) coat. The vogue is of terra cotta cloth, with a flaring skirt and with or without big pocket lids. But the full skirt, lined with some contrasting color of silk, tulle or taffeta, may be worn with any of these figures. There may be great pointed revers of a most cape collar of itself, bordered with a deep moire border. In any case it will have gigot sleeves.

The fair wearer may, if she wants to be real, right down stylish, add one of the long incroyable scarfs. These cost when made as much as $10. It needs three yards of black ribbon, from 75 cents to $1 per yard, and one yard and a half of lace for a full frill at the bottom. The ends must be three-quarters of a yard long and the most made into a plain double bow, long enough for the upper corners to reach the ears, while the middle part comes under the chin. The differences in the cost of the one you make yourself and the one you buy is that you have to pay for the rent of the store and the help and the bad debts of others. If you really want an incroyable tie, and buy one, pretty, be a wise woman, buy your stuff and make one and charge your husband $10 for it.

OLIVE HARPER.

HE HAS PREACHING FITS.

An Ignorant Norwegian Who Discourses Like a Theologian When Inspired.

The Scandinavian folk of the Puget sound region have been strongly affected by the preaching of one Edvard Hvalsham, a young Norwegian of slight education, who claims to be inspired by the Holy Ghost. An intelligent Norwegian newspaper publisher says Hvalsham preaches the word of God more lucidly than any clergyman he has heard in this country. And yet the only difference between Hvalsham's style of preaching and that of a trained theologian, according to his own statement, is that no spirit controls him save the Holy Ghost.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right today; and would insist on everyone who is afflicted with the terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

A BAD ACCIDENT.

A Land Slide Sweeps a Train Into a River.

The Pittsburg Drops the Accommodation Train—Injuries on the Wabash Interwoven—Local Affairs.

A bad accident happened at Kenwood, thirty miles west of Pittsburg, on the Fort Wayne road, at 2 o'clock this morning. While engine 277 and five coke cars were passing that point a heavy landslide came down the hill and swept the train into the Beaver river. The trainmen narrowly escaped death, but all got off with injuries of a more or less serious nature. Their names were:

Engineer M. Hubbard.
Fireman George Jones.
Brakeman Thomas Reed.

The slide covered the tracks with hundreds of tons of earth and delayed traffic several hours.

MINOR MENTION.

Supt. G. D. Law went to Lima, Ohio, this morning.

Supt. Geo. L. Potter will go to Pittsburg this evening.

Agent R. G. Thompson, of the Wabash, has returned from St. Louis.

Henry Shuman, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is in the country visiting friends.

Master Mechanic W. W. Atterbury, of the Pittsburg, went to Chicago this morning.

Machinist Fred Strope, who was sick, resumed work in the Pittsburg shops this morning.

John Carrol, of the Bass machine shops, left today for Bucyrus, Ohio, to visit his brothers.

Charles Santa, a painter in the Wabash shops, is detained at home by the illness of his child.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will hold their bi-annual convention at St. Paul May 16.

Pittsburg Engineer Joseph Cooper is off duty, on account of injuries received while out on the road.

Boilermaker J. V. Graber, of the Wabash shops, is taking a lay off to look after some private business.

Charles Dassler, painter in the east shops, is sick and off duty. He has been unable to work ever since February.

Benjamin Kessler is suffering with rheumatism and is absent from his duties in the shops. He works for the Wabash.

The Virginia legislature has refused to pass a bill increasing the liability of railroad companies for injuries suffered by their employes.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schrick, of 131 Baker street, a boy. The father is a boilermaker employed at the Wabash shops.

Boilermaker Henry Greeken was called to Washington, Ohio, this morning to repair a disabled water station boiler for the Pittsburg road.

F. S. Hunting has returned home from the southern part of Indiana, where he has spent some days in the interest of the electric light company.

Supt. J. B. Barnes left St. Louis this morning for Hot Springs, Ark., where he expects to remain about a month. He was accompanied by Mrs. Barnes.

The seventh international conference of the railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association will be held in New York city March 29-April 1.

William Peckham has resigned his position with the electric light works and will devote his time and energies to the sale of a patent fence, desired by himself.

The electric light works have so far this week received four orders for electric lighting plants. Just now the company is inundegrand no shipments are being made.

Herman Witte, who operates a machine in the Pittsburg planing mills, lost the tip of the index finger of his right hand this morning, by getting it in the machinery.

Allen Maddux, of Sherman street, foreman of the Nickel Plate wrecking train, was forty-one years old yesterday. His friends helped him to celebrate the occasion last night.

Major Hank, the well known passenger conductor on the Pittsburg road, is quite ill again. It has been only a few days since Mr. Mauk resumed his run after a long illness.

Oliver Lehman, of the Pittsburg planing mills, came to work this morning with his face wreathed in smiles. To all inquirers he said: "It's a boy and weighs twelve pounds."

James Keegan, master mechanic of the Grand Rapids shops, came down to this city last night and this morning went to Denison, Ohio. His mission is one of business for the company.

The Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern railway, a narrow gauge road, will widen the tracks to the standard gauge. The work will be performed in one day if enough laborers can be secured at the various points.

Eastbound shipments from Chicago last week amounted to 67,940 tons, against 58,908 tons for the preceding week, and 81,142 tons for the corresponding week of last year. Fort Wayne lines carried: Pittsburg, 6,208 tons; Nickel Plate, 6,172 and the Wabash, 6,854.

One-half of the engineers who went out on a strike on the Lehigh Valley road, November 18, have been reinstated.

P. DeFrain, a carpenter employed in the Pittsburg tank shop, is taking a vacation to look after some private business.

Boilermaker Joseph Cour, of the Pittsburg shops, is suffering with a chip of steel in his eye. He will be off duty several days.

The Big Four has a $50,000 damage suit on its hands at Columbus, Ohio. The plaintiff was injured in a wreck at Eagle Creek April 7, 1891.

There was a collision between engines at the Pittsburg camber pits this morning. The damage was all to Grand Rapids engine No. 3, which had its pilot broken.

The Boston and Albany road will have its tracks between Albany and Boston either above or below ever street and roadway crossing before the present year expires.

James J. Wood, of the Electric Light company, has been awarded patents on an improved electric arc lamp. Robert B. Mackintosh and G. A. Hall, of this city, have received patents on a joint for railway rails.

The Pennsylvania Company's Base Ball club will hold a meeting the latter part of this month to elect officers for the coming year. They will sign several players from the Dolphins club and will have the strongest team in town.

In Mexico trainmen are held responsible for loss of life on railroads. Engineer Ackerman, of the Mexican Interoceanic railroad, is now serving a term in prison for the death of a citizen, who was struck by Ackerman's engine.

Alpheus Cyphers, general eastern agent of the Wabash, has resigned, and Robert N Collyer succeeds him, with headquarters at 329 Broadway, New York. C. H. Lake succeeds Mr. Collyer as freight agent of the company for that point.

Samuel Graham, a carpenter employed at the electric light works, resumed work this morning, although still unable to walk without a crutch. For a while he will file saws and do such other light work as can be performed at the bench.

On account of a sudden increase in business the Wabash was compelled to place another switch engine in the yards in this city, and this morning engine 58, manned by Engineer Dial and Fireman Burns, were brought up from Andrews and put to work.

W. S. Wells, W. O. Bassett and John H. Franke, machinist in the Pittsburg shops, are taking a day's rest. It is reported that Mr. Wells is endeavoring to organize a base ball league, which shall embrace all the towns within a radius of twenty miles of Fort Wayne.

A passenger rate war is one of the probabilities of the spring. Some of the standard lines across weaker ones of selling tickets, Chicago to New York, for $8. The deal is made in connection with a $20 rate from Chicago to Liverpool. Of the $20, the steamship company receives $12, thus making the Chicago-New York tariff $8.

The shopmates of Charles Rice were greatly shocked this morning to hear of the death of Mrs. Rice. Yesterday morning the deceased left so much better that she advised her husband to return to his work in the shops. He was called home at 9 o'clock and at 3 o'clock his estimable wife died. Elsewhere will be found notice of her death.

Electricity as a motive power is now employed in thirty coal mines in the United States and is far preferable to steam or mule power, because of its great hauling capacity in proportion to the bulk of the locomotive or motor. The increased speed also permits a larger tonnage to be taken from the same outlet, with fewer cars and switches.

The car wheel feeder, a device gotten up for the protection of life or limb, is constructed of spring steel, placed close above the rail in front of the wheel. The bottom is formed into a loop and is oblique to the rail to prevent anybody or limb passing under the wheel. The feeder is attached to the under side of the journal boxes by means of large bolts.

Trainmaster C. B. Walton and Chief Dispatcher Will H. Tigar, of the Pittsburg, are at work today upon a new time card. Radical changes in the running of trains will come soon, probably next Sunday, but the schedule is not yet ready for publication. The Chicago accommodation, Nos. 37 and 38, and the Plymouth accommodation, Nos. 47 and 48, will be discontinued after Sunday.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana board of directors are holding a meeting in Grand Rapids today. The result of the meeting is anxiously awaited, as there have been various rumors concerning the removal of the official headquarters to Pittsburg. It is believed here that only two heads of departments will remain at Grand Rapids. One of those will probably be Fred Gorham, the auditor of the road.

There are ninety-five local Railroad Young Men's Christian Associations in the United States. The total membership is estimated at 23,000. About one-fourth of the expenses of the different associations is contributed by the employes of the roads and the balance of the expense is borne by the railroad companies. The Fort Wayne branch of the Y. M. C. A. is one of the most prosperous of the country and centers nearer being self supporting than any of the others.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held a meeting this afternoon to elect officers for the ensuing six months. The order is in a prosperous condition.

Richard Green and Dennis Gall, wood carvers, employed at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simon, are at work upon a head casing for the dining room of Mr. Bass' Brookside residence, which, when completed, will be the most elaborate and beautiful piece of carving in this part of the state. The piece is about ten feet broad and nine feet high and is built out of quarter sawed oak.

GET GOOD DIGESTION.

Paine's Celery Compound, the Greatest of Remedies.

Influence of the Nerves on Various Diseases The Way Frank Bair, of Chicago, Regained His Health—Prof. Phelps' Wonderful Prescription.

FRANK BAIR.

Increased cares and duties, increase in mental strain, lessened physical labor and increased mental work, have been gradually giving us bodies in which the nervous element predominates

Diseases are to lay as different from diseases of a century ago as is their treatment. While the average individual now does more mental work, we are not as well able to bear the strain as they were.

Nine-tenths of us neither eat, sleep, exercise, bathe or recreate ourselves in a proper way. It is all hurry and turmoil. Little rest and much care.

When the ailments and distress of the blood—the nutritive principles of the blood—become deficient in their relative proportions to the other parts of the blood, the health suffers. If nervous power be depressed, then the food is imperfectly digested, assimilated, and converted into blood and tissues.

There is the cause in a nutshell of half the diseases and ilness of the world.

Here is the cure—the greatest medical discovery of modern times—the remedy first prescribed by the greatest physician of the age, Prof. Edward Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college—the remedy that has made more people well than any other ever known—the truest food for the nerves—the best known strengthener of impoverished blood—the remedy that from one end of the country to the other, and in Europe as well, is indorsed by physicians and prescribed and used by them, recommended by the plain people, unequivocally indorsed by men and women of wide reputation, blessed by thousands—Paine's celery compound.

Try it. Any druggist has it or will get it for you.

Read the following unsolicited letter from Mr. Frank Bair, whose portrait is given above, one of Chicago's best known and most highly esteemed business men, the western agent of the great firm of Nash, Whitson & Co., sell dealers, of New York:

"I have used Paine's celery compound for the past six months, and must say that it has helped me wonderfully. I had pain in my back and chest, and faint, tired feelings at the stomach, and often I would eat the taste would make me deathly sick. I became very weak and lost about 20 pounds. After having used a few bottles of Paine's celery compound I am feeling better than I have in all my life." Try it.

There are 285 manual training schools in England, 2,413 cooking classes in the schools and 152 laundry classes.

Before William Makepeace Thackeray died he cracked from his pocket-book a pledge that they would never permit his biography or "reminiscences" to be written.

An immense orange, weighing almost two pounds and measuring five and a quarter inches in diameter, has been grown in the grove of Mr. Fessenden, at Tampa, Fla.

In 1868 a lime tree in Bernkirchen in four feet in diameter six feet from the ground was blown down and uprooted and replaced again. It to-day shows no trace of its injury.

Professor Levi has made a calculation that the wage earning classes of England spend $15,000,000 a year in drink, and to-day there are thousands of them homeless and starving.

The living members of the family of John Bucheron of Lyons, N. Y., have all attained great ages. There are seven children, the oldest of whom is 91 years of age, and the youngest is 78 years old.

Ever since a Louisville woman saw some mummies in the Anthropological exhibition at the exposition she thinks she is 1,000 years old, and she has just been put in the insane asylum now. She is worth $50,000, too.

Mrs. Annie L. Kirk died in Cecil county, Maryland, the other day at the age of 103. She was in sound health nearly to the day of her death. She was of Irish birth, but had long lived in Cecil county, where her husband was a miller.

A barking shark was caught at Monterey, Cal., recently. The fish has been secured by the Stanford university for scientific purposes. The barking shark is, probably, the rarest species of its kind, and the British museum is said to make a standing offer of $1,000 for the skin of that fish.

In his last story Mark Twain tells of a young colored girl who "experienced religion" in a revival. The next day in meeting her master's deed she happened upon a two-dollar bill which had been left there by accident. "Lord-a-mussy," she said as she covered it with a book so as not to be further tempted, "How I wish't that revival had been put off till tomorrow."

Mr. Charles S. Corey of Boston is thoughing and panting among the swamps in the Banana river country, Florida, with a novel addition to a hunter's outfit. Venomous snakes, spiders and other such ornaments are quite plentiful in that region, and give hunters much trouble, so Mr. Corey has made up his mind on the trip a pair of aluminum leggings. They are light, convenient to wear and a very comfortable safeguard. Mr. Corey got four bears on one trip last week.

THE NEW PENSION AGENT.

Martin Van Buren Spencer Visits the Pension Office.

[Indianapolis Sentinel.]

Martin Van Buren Spencer, the new pension agent for this district, was in the city yesterday making preliminary arrangements for taking possession of the office. It is his first visit to the city since his appointment. He went through the office with Mr. Manley, the retiring agent, and made arrangements with the latter to take possession of the office on the 17th inst. This is done to give the retiring agent time to complete the abstracts of the February payment. Since Mr. Spencer's examination of the office he is more thoroughly impressed with the idea that the office is no sinecure. The office pays out annually about $12,000,000, and for any mistakes the agent is responsible and must foot the losses on a salary of $4,000. The abstract of a single payment makes a volume as large as a bookkeeper's ledger and represents days and weeks of labor by a hundred or more clerks.

As soon as it was learned that Mr. Spencer was in the city a rush was made for the Grand Hotel, where he stopped, but all office-seekers were disappointed, as everything has been settled so far as assistants and clerkships are concerned. Mr. Spencer said in substance that the appointments he had made from his own congressional district. A few, he said, had been made at the request of congressmen to whom he was under obligations for his appointment, but the bulk of the appointments promised by Mr. Zollinger when he was assured of his appointment, Mr. Spencer said he was inclined to carry out those promises so far as possible with certainty. "But," he said, "I have no way of knowing to whom Mr. Zollinger made promises, and therefore can not follow out his probable course. If I should take every man's word that he had been promised a position by Mr. Zollinger I would have a ballroom appliance for each position at my disposal. Mr. Joseph Reilly will, however, be appointed as my assistant."

Mr. Spencer expressed himself as greatly pleased with the present force of assistants in the pension office and will make few changes immediately. When he begins to make changes it will be few at a time so as to initiate the the new comers by degrees. Those appointed, he said, were all recommended as being intelligent accountants and well qualified for the position, and had been appointed on trial only.

To cleanse the system in a gentle and truly beneficial manner, when the Springtime comes, use the time and perfect remedy, Syrup of Figs. One bottle will answer for all the family and costs only 50 cents; the large size $1. Try it and be pleased. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

They Went the Best.

"The people of this vicinity insist on having Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and do not want any other," says John V. Bishop, of Portland Mills, Indiana That is right. They know it to be superior to any other for colds, and as a preventive and cure for croup, and why should they not insist upon having it? 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

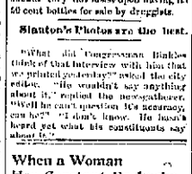
What did Congressman Binkley think of that interview with him that we printed yesterday?" asked the city editor. "He wouldn't say anything about it," replied the newspaperman. "Well he can't question it's accuracy, can he?" cried Mr. Binkley. He hasn't heard yet what his constituents say about it."

When a Woman Has Constant Backache

she cannot walk or stand, her duties are heavy burdens, and she is utterly miserable.

The cause is some derangement of the uterus or womb.



Backache is the sure symptom. For years Sarah Holstein, who lives at 7 Perry St., in Lowell, Mass., suffered with falling of the womb. The best doctors failed to relieve her, and as a last resort she purchased six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now she is a well woman.

The dreadful pain in her back stopped after taking the second bottle. She wishes she had taken it sooner, and saved both money and years of suffering. This Vegetable Compound is the one unfailing remedy for female complaints.

Mr. Caldwell H. Colt, son of Samuel Colt, founder of the Colts Patent Fire-arms company, died at the Hotel Punta Gorda, Fla., on the evening of Jan. 21, in his 56th year. Young Colt inherited a fortune from his father of $2,000,000, and being fond of outdoor sports, gave little attention to the affairs of the corporation, of which he was a prominent member and large stockholder.

Smoke Sale

Advertisements are sometimes misleading.

At the present low prices of good, perfect, staple Dry Goods, it is doubtful if there is any saving, or satisfaction gained, by purchasing imperfect or damaged, and, perhaps, old goods. Think it over.

Is it possible, we ask, to do better in purchasing water-soaked goods than perfect goods at the following prices?

65 pieces Red Calico, Black Figures and Stripes, warranted Fast Colors, 4c per yard.
70 pieces Best Indigo Blue Calico, 4½c per yard.
60 pieces Fine Seersucker Dress Ginghams at 8½c, worth 10 & 12½c.
1 case Columbia Dress Ginghams, 5c, worth 8½c.
2 cases Fine Striped Outing at 4½c, worth 8½c.
1 case Honeycomb Towels, 18x36 inches in size, at 5c each.
25 doz. Turkish Bath Towels, 21x36, 19c each.
Barcelling at 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c and 7c.
Fine Ingrain Carpets at 25c, 30c, 45c, 50c, 60c and 65c per yard that cannot be bought for cash in this city for less than 25 per cent. more money.
Men's full length and full size Outing Shirts for 25c each.
Boy's, same quality, at 20c, while they last.

Hundreds of bargains are lying around in our store that we would not sell cheaper if they were saturated with coal oil and sprinkled with ashes.

We have also Ten Thousand Dollars worth of New Goods on the way, that will arrive during the week, and we will have something new to show every time you call.

Don't stand too long in one place and catch a cold waiting your turn to get waited on at a smoke sale, but step right along to the BOSTON STORE and look at the new goods and get warmed, and go back, if you feel disposed.

People cannot be too careful of their health, nor presume too much on the warmth of a little sunshine so early in the season.

SHOT AT A BURGLAR.

A Crook Scared Away From Mon. Montgomery Hamilton's Residence.

Between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock this morning a burglar was caught in the act of breaking into the home of Hon. Montgomery Hamilton, by Private Watchman Murphy. The watch man was going through the yard, making his rounds, when he suddenly came upon the fellow, who was trying to effect an entrance through a back window on the porch. The burglar saw that he was cornered and, pulling a revolver, attempted to shoot at Murphy. The revolver missed fire twice and the fellow turned and ran. Murphy sent two shots after him and chased the fellow across the yard, but he managed to escape. The housebreaker had been in the house, but was frightened outside by some noise and was about to re-enter the residence when Murphy came upon him.

A SPLENDID PROGRAM.

The Recital at the Hebrew Temple Last Evening.

The grand concert and organ recital at the Hebrew Temple last night was one of the most enjoyable events for music loving people ever held in this city. The attendance was large and the work of the singers was excellent. The musical was given for the benefit of the church and a great sum was realized. Those having charge of the musical are to be complimented for the excellency of their choice in the selection of artists. Among those who took part were the following: Mrs. Elkoil Rubland, Miss Minnie Frank, S. W. Jennison, Mrs. Aaron Rothschild, Prof. Rienzi Thomas. Miss Ioo Long was the piano accompanist.

SMALLPOX SCARE.

A Tramp Who Claimed to Have Been Exposed.

Said He Feared That He Was Being Taken Ill With the Terrible Disease.

Last evening there was quite a small pox scare in certain parts of the city. A tramp called at the office of the township trustee and applied for aid. The fellow was barefooted and was in great need. His face was quite red, as though from fever, and he seemed to be quite ill.

The tramp was given a new pair of shoes and sent out to the county farm. Superintendent Felts was rather suspicious of the case and made the man sleep in a building apart from the regular inmates of the institution. This morning the man confessed that he had been exposed to smallpox in Chicago and feared that he was taking the disease. He expressed a wish to go on his journey and Superintendent Felts made no effort to detain him. Later the fellow was seen on the streets begging. He would ask for aid, and if no money was given him, the rag would remark that he had been exposed to smallpox. Many timid persons gave the fellow money to get rid of him.

WAS NOT MURDERED.

Alfred Oxnard Seen in Portland Two Weeks Ago.

PORTLAND, Maine, March 7.—Alfred Oxnard, who was supposed by a Boston lawyer to have been the man found murdered in a Brook at Georgetown, Mass., was seen in this city within two weeks, and is reported to be in this state at the present time by parties claiming to know whereof they speak.

Resolutions Indorsing Mr. Geake.

Last night the Soncoutter's union met at their hall and passed the following resolutions indorsing Mr. Geake as a candidate for the mayoralty:

Whereas There are rumors going the rounds to the effect that Mr. William Geake is no friend of organized labor, therefore, we wish to inform all mechanics and laborers, who are being misled by these reports, circulated to lessen the popularity of Mr. Geake among working men, of our feeling and to abate the further statement that the men in his employ would not indorse him as a candidate for the mayoralty.

We, the local branch of the Stonecutter's union of North America, although not a political organization, in justice to ourselves and to Mr. Geake, and as a great number of our members are personally acquainted with Mr Geake, both as an employer and socially, we will vouch for him as a friend of the laboring class, and as the first man to inaugurate shorter hours and the largest wages paid in the city, and as never employing any but union men since such an organization has been in existence; therefore,

Resolved, That we indorse Mr Geake as a true union man and a friend to the laboring class, and say one in need.

"What do you think of this socialistic idea that people should receive pay in proportion to the effort they put forth?" "It's utterly impracticable. Why, under such a rule, that girl next door who is trying to be a soprano singer would be entitled to about $1,000 a day."
